CANDLES

ABOUT

Candlelight is magical and sensuous. Candles can be enjoyed to create a sense of magic in the home or simply for pure indulgence. There are many uses of candles. The practical use of a candle is simply as a source of light in case of power cuts. Candles can also be used for their aesthetic value, particularly to set a soft, warm, or romantic ambience, and to use color candles to complement the color scheme of a room or as decoration pieces. When added with essential oils, candles can be used as a tool for aromatherapy.

The name comes from the Latin 'candere', which means to be white or to glitter, hence giving light in darkness. Candles have central roles in many religious ceremonies since the beginning of civilization due to its spiritual symbolisms. For one occasion, they symbolize light, hope, faith, truth, and peace, and on other occasions, they may symbolize remembrance, celebration or even mourning.

Essentially, candle making can be regarded as a kind of art, since it is the creation of a sculptured form. Some of the most popular candles are those cast from molten wax into every shape imaginable, using moulds of metal, plastic and rubber, providing a huge range of candles in a broad spectrum of sizes. Color adds to the sensual pleasure of candles and, with all the colors of the rainbow available, from the subtlest pastels to the most vibrant primary hues. Scent can have a powerful effect on mood and all sorts of aromatic candles are available for every occasion.

Lin's Candle first started in 1998 in the family kitchen of Linda Gunawan-Zulkarnaen. She is a social worker who had a 'mission' to 'feed' the community around Balaraja, Tangerang, Indonesia, because many were made redundant due to the monetary crisis crashed Indonesia at that time.

With a knack for creative hobbies, a "Candle Making In A Weekend" Book and the help of two domestic-helpers, heart-shaped floating candles were made as souvenirs. The marketing of the candles were helped by the ladies from a worship group at Puri Indah.

In the year 2002, PT Linova Gracia was formed and occupied a new location at Rukan Taman Meruya blok M-22. The name is chosen from a combination of two words: Lilin (Indonesian for Candles) and Novena (a form of Catholic worship prayer), thus the words Linova Gracia means 'Novena Candles for grace.'

All of our candles are made by hand with high-quality ingredients. Our candles are smooth in texture, variant in colours, and without drippings and smoke. We supply basic candles and work together with many decorators and individuals to create special candles according to their specific needs.

Our customers varies from hotels, religious shops, interior product shops, churches, individuals, decorators, morgues, restaurants, cafés, clubs, and etc.
